

I subscribed to XM radio one year ago because of the lack of specific types of news and music in my local area. I am thrilled to now be able to listen to CNN and financial news when I am in the car. I also love being able to pick the exact type of radio programming that I want to hear from the almost limitless choices. The quality of the signal is also strong and reliable even during roadtrips. Although XM does not cover my metro area with traffic information. I think it is a great tool for those who can use that service. If I lived in one of the covered areas, I certainly would utilize those stations. I urge you to reject the NAB's petition 04-160 which could limit my radio listening choices.